

HUGHES APPEALS TO YOUNG VOTERS

G. O. P. Nominee Gives Five Reasons Why They Should Vote Republican Ticket.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Charles E. Hughes, Wednesday night told an audience in the academy of music, Brooklyn, why, in his opinion the young men of the nation should support the republican ticket at the next election. Five chief reasons were cited in answer to the question: "What sort of country does Young America, vibrant with patriotism, desire?"

Mr. Hughes answered the question in part, as follows:

"First, he wants a country respected throughout the world. He wants a country which respects the dignity of its citizenship.

"Second, Young America must desire a country that is prepared for every emergency.

"Third, Young America, looking ahead, must desire that when peace is once more restored we shall contribute to its maintenance by doing our proper share to secure a practicable and effective international organization in the interests of peace.

"Fourth, Young America wants government in the open, by visible constitutional instruments, not by unofficial spokesmen or invisible authority. He also wants a government not sectional but truly national.

"Fifth, Young America wants industrial preparedness."

In citing his second reason, Mr. Hughes assailed the administration for lack of preparedness, referred to "manifest defects" in the army re-organization bill, declared that the navy department had "incapable leadership" and touched on a recommendation by Secy. Garrison in June, 1914, that the regular army be filled to its "full strength," a recommendation Mr. Hughes said, that had been ignored.

"I am informed upon competent authority," Mr. Hughes said, "that had there been the addition to the regular army then desired by Secy. Garrison, it would not have been necessary to send our national guard to the border."

CENTER OF "HYPHEN DEAL" POLITICAL ROW

JEREMIAH O'LEARY.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Political circles are stirred as a result of the charge made by the democratic national committee that Charles E. Hughes, contracted a "campaign deal" through Jeremiah A. O'Leary whereby Hughes was to procure the Irish-American and German-American vote, which charge, by the way, Mr. Hughes has vehemently denied.

The democratic national campaign committee asserted that Hughes in conference with O'Leary practically repudiated Col. Roosevelt and assured O'Leary that his (Hughes) campaign speeches of the future would be entirely satisfactory to the interests represented by O'Leary. It was alleged that O'Leary reported back to this affect to the American Independence conference, of which he is a leading member.

Seeming Plot On Neutrality Is Shown In Letters

LONDON, Oct. 26.—The following two letters intercepted on their way to Germany, were made public here Tuesday. The first one from Max—461, Eighth st., South Boston, and addressed to his brother, said: "Dear Gustav, 'The Willehad sailed today. I am to stay here till the end of the war. The Willehad will act within the American three mile limit as a telegraph station for submarines. She has four months provisions aboard.'"

The second letter was from the captain of the Willehad, named Jachens, who wrote from New London to his sister in Germany, saying: "I rejoice I am now here as captain of the Willehad. The Willehad will lie at Boston. I am here with the Willehad on a special mission. 'Later you will hear from me. I rejoice that I have done something for the Fatherland and that I still have more to do.'"

INTERNED LAST AUGUST. The North German Lloyd steamship Willehad, which took refuge in Boston soon after the beginning of the war, was taken to New London on August 25 last under command of Capt. Jachens, and was tied up at the pier of the Eastern Forwarding Co., the American agent for the German submarine merchantmen.

The Willehad at New London was taken to a prepared dock in which the Eastern Forwarding Co. had erected, under rush orders, after the arrival of the submarine Deutschland at Baltimore. A corrugated iron shed about 400 feet long by 25 feet wide, with the end of the pier enclosed by a high fence joined on to the office of the company. Capt. Hirsch, former master of the North German Lloyd liner Neckar, was brought from Baltimore and placed in charge of the property.

Wireless Scaled. The Willehad as she now lies, is made fast to cluster piling fifty feet away from the dock, her stern hard against the bank of the Thames river. Her wireless is scaled. Between the ship and the dock is a space of about 50 feet intended for the reception of the expected Bremen or other ships of the submarine merchant fleet. To shut out possible view or interruption of the loading and unloading process of the merchant submarines, a floating gate thirty feet high has been constructed, made fast to piling at the bow of the Willehad and so designed that when closed the space between the ship and the dock is completely closed in.

The piling under the pier on which the shed is built, as well as the piling to which the Willehad is made fast, is said to have been wired under the water to prevent, it was explained, possible damage to a merchant submarine by boats coming up to it under the docks. These wires are electrically connected with a gong in the office of the company.

The crew of the Willehad is doing all the work around the docks and piers of the Eastern Forwarding Co., including that of watchmen. It is also said in New London that the sailors will be used to discharge and load cargo of any merchant submarine which may arrive in the future.
